

parhambusiness.com

Pipes and fittings in the construction industry and agriculture are considered essential and irreplaceable elements. Therefore, it is very important to choose a reliable and quality brand. In this catalog, we will examine Parham brand pipes and fittings and discuss their advantages and features.

excellent quality

Perham brand pipes and fittings are produced using the best raw materials and the most up-to-date technologies. This brand has international quality certificates such as ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 and in .this way, it attracts your trust and confidence

parhambusiness.com

2

High resistance to pressure and heat

Parham pipes and fittings have a high resistance to pressure and heat due to their solid and conventional structure. This feature is important for use in water and sewage systems and heating and cooling networks, especially in high-pressure or high-temperature environments

parhambusiness.com

3

No water penetration

Perham pipes and fittings are made of high quality PE material, which are produced through injection to prevent re-infiltration of water or closed pipes. This special feature makes these products resistant to corrosion and rust and .thus have a very long useful life

Easy installation and maintenance
Parham pipes and fittings with appropriate designs provide easy installation on other components and systems. This feature allows users to install and maintain pipes and fittings quickly and without any problems. Also, due to the use of PE material, they do not need to be soldered or welded, which significantly reduces costs

parhambusiness.com

Variety in sizes and types

Parham brand pipes and fittings are available in various sizes and types. This means that you can choose products of your desired size and shape, which makes the process of installation and use easier

Application of polyethylene pipes in agriculture
These types of pipes, due to their unique and individual characteristics, such as lightness and easy installation, prevent water wastage in agriculture when irrigating crops

Perham brand pipes and fittings with the features and advantages we reviewed are the right choice for the construction industry and the water and sewage industry. Excellent quality, resistance to pressure and heat, no water penetration, easy installation and maintenance, environmental friendliness, chemical resistance, reliable connections, variety of sizes and types, and reasonable price are just some of the reasons why the pipe And Etisalat Parham to be distinguished from other brands. This brand is a guarantee that gives satisfaction and hopes to use it more.

parhambusiness.com

 parhambusiness.com  info@parhambusiness.com    +989120771192

